Introduction

This Quick Bite can be completed in the classroom during a cooking demonstration or at home. Having children being part of meal preparation time is a great way to connect with our kids and it gives them the opportunity to learn many basic cooking skills through observation and discussion.

Learning Intention

This resource will enable students to:

- develop their literacy skills through word recognition
- recognise commonly used cooking terms in recipes
- develop their factual text reading by reviewing recipes
- connect with family mealtimes

Materials and equipment

- Sample recipes
- Printed Cooking Bingo – student sheets

Teacher background notes

- Sample recipes for cooking in the classroom are available in the Cooking with Your Kids – Recipe Booklet

How to play -

- As an adult prepares a meal, children can mark off the cooking words used in the recipe (you don't have to follow a written recipe, just explain your actions/preparation and the equipment you use as you go).
- Older children can find a recipe from a book or online and as they read the recipe mark off the words they come across.
- Win by marking off 4 words in a consecutive line.

Extension –

Upper primary aged children can write a glossary of cooking terms, listing the words and definitions.
